DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 6-11 are objected to because of the following informalities:
  - a) In claim 6, line 3, “the plug-in unit” lacks antecedent base.
  - b) In claim 6, lines 6 and 7, it is not clear what the applicant means by “the optical module detachably attaching the optical module”.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

3. Claims 1, 3-6 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kusuda et al (6,644,866).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention “by another,” or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Kusuda et al discloses, for claim 1, a first connector (207) connectable to an optical module (215) connected to an optical cable (148); a connector housing accommodating said first connector and having an insertion part into which the optical module is inserted; and an attachment lever (206) that is used for fixing the plug-in unit to a housing in which the plug-in unit is accommodated, wherein said first connector is located on a first side of the plug-in unit opposite to a second side where said attachment lever is located (see figure 18), for claim 3, a back board (107) to which the plug-in unit (95) is attached; and an optical module housing (225) mounted on said back board so as to detachably attach the optical module (217, 215), for claim 4, the optical module housing has an engagement part configured and arranged to be engaged with the optical module so as to hold the optical module in said optical module housing (see figures 18 and 19), for claim 5, a first connector (207) connectable to an optical module connected to an optical cable (148); a connector housing accommodating said first connector and having an insertion part into which the optical module is inserted; and an attachment lever (206) that is used for fixing the plug-in unit to said housing, wherein said first connector is located on a first side of the plug-in unit opposite to a second side where said attachment lever is located (see figure 18), for claim 6, a housing including: a back board (107) to which the plug-in unit (95) is attached; and an optical module housing (225) mounted on said back board, the optical module detachably attaching the optical module; and a plug-in unit (95) that is accommodated in said housing, the plug-in unit including: a first connector (207) connectable to an optical module connected to an optical cable (148); a connector housing accommodating said first connector and having an insertion part into which the optical module is inserted; and an attachment lever (206) that is used for fixing the plug-in unit to said housing, wherein said first connector is located on a first side of the plug-in unit opposite to a second side where said attachment lever is located (see figure 18), for claim 11, the optical module has an engagement protrusion, and said optical module housing has an engagement groove that is engaged with the engagement protrusion when the optical module is attached to the optical module housing.

Art Unit: 2839

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kusuda et al.

Kusuda et al discloses all the limitations of claim 1, as shown above,

However, Kusuda et al does not disclose:

- a) The open end of said insertion part has a chamfer part. Official notice is taken that having a chamfer is well known in the art, therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention for Kusuda et al to have the open end with a chamfer to guide the optical module moving into the insertion part.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 7-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

7. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The reason for allowance of the claims is the inclusion of the limitation,

- a) For claim 7, none of the prior art teaches or suggest, alone or in combination the second insertion part having a metal plate so as to discharge static electricity, in combination with other limitations in the claim which is not found in the prior art reference of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
